Report Germans Regrouping For Anzio Assault

By EDWARD KENNEDY

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 8 (AP)—Gunfire, mortar and grenade duels raged for the second straight night in shell-torn Cassino on the main Fifth Army front, headquarters announced today, and observers have spotted movements behind the German lines below Rome, possibly indicating a regrouping for a fourth all-out push against the allied beachhead.

New Zealand siege guns hammered at a German held rail station about a mile south of Cassino while American troops west of Cisterna on the beachhead engaged in a fierce machinegun and mortar duel with the Nazis, but there was no change in positions. The Germans made a concerted but futile effort to infiltrate British positions near Carroceto, on the Rome side of the beachhead.

Weather Hampers Ground Forces

Foul weather continued to hamper the ground fighting and the communique declared that "heavy snow in the mountains and deep mud in the valleys have made all movements difficult."

Allied planes flew about 1,300 sorties yesterday, with heavy bombers blasting the Toulon naval base in southern France and medium bombers striking at rail yards in Rome. Five Nazi planes were destroyed for a loss of five allied craft.

The operations included heavy bomber raids on rail facilities in the Florence region and on airfields north of Rome. The Rome radio said heavy damage and casualties had been caused in Rome and asserted that a church and an orphanage had been hit.

Medium bombers struck at the docks at Santo Stefano, important German supply point on the Italian Riviera, and night bombers returned to dump bombs on the port last night.

Bombers Blast Targets In Italy And South Of Paris

By GLADWIN HILL

London, March 8 (AP)—RAF bombers in a new drive against Nazi railroad centers feeding coastal defenses struck heavily last night against the yards at Lemans, 110 miles southwest of Paris, and again returned without loss.

Swift United States Marauder bombers struck unspecified targets in Holland today. RAF, Dominion and Allied fighters gave them escort.

The night blow followed a day of scissor attacks from south and west on targets in France and Italy.

Coupled with the blow at Lemans, RAF Mosquito bombers raided western Germany for the sixth successive night. These speedy wooden bombers now carry a ton of explosives, putting them in the medium bomber class.

Reds Advancing

The Russians moved within nine miles of Tarnopol and 15 of Proskurov, important junctions on the severed Odessa-Lwow railroad. Driving toward Rumania, the Red Army offensive in the Ukraine overran 200 settlements in advances up to 20 to 30 miles a day. The Germans brought up heavy air reinforcements.

Fox in addition to the members of the trio sang two numbers.

Sixty-five members attended the meeting which closed with the Lord's Prayer. The next meeting will be held at Littlestown April 3.

APPEALED CASE IS CERTIFIED TO SUPREME COURT

The damage suit by Nelson E. and B. Rush Mellett, Gettysburg R. D., against Mrs. Katherine Tuckey, Wenksville, which was appealed to the state Superior court last year by counsel for the plaintiffs after a decision against them in Adams county court, has been certified to the state Supreme court, local counsel have been advised.

The appeal now is slated to be heard before the highest state court during its term in Philadelphia which opens April 17. John P. Butt, Esq., is counsel for the Melletts and Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., represents Mrs. Tuckey.

The Melletts took their appeal after the jury that tried the case in county court here during the January term in 1943 was dismissed after failing to come to a decision. The vote was seven to five, the court was told, as the 12 jurors were discharged after a two-day trial.

Accident in 1942
Later Judge W. C. Sheely entered a judgment on the whole record in the case as though a verdict had been given the Melletts and was being reversed by the court. In the opinion in the case the judge held Nelson Mellett was guilty of contributory negligence.

The suit grew out of an automobile crash on the Lincoln highway at its intersection with the Granite-Bonneville road in the fall of 1942. Young Mellett, driver of the car, which collided with a machine operated by Mrs. Tuckey, lost an arm in the mishap.

The order certifying the case to the high court was handed down by President Judge William H. Keller.

College Will Set UP Scholarships

To honor the men of Gettysburg college who have been killed in the service of their country during the current World war, the college will make available a minimum of 25 scholarships worth $200 annually to exceptional students starting next year, Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of the college, announced today.

The scholarships will be known as the World War No. 2 Memorial scholarships and are being made possible by the college Alumni association. Thirteen Gettysburg college men have already given their lives in the current war, it was announced.

In order to be eligible students must have a high scholarship record in high school and show qualities of leadership in high school work. College officials said the number of scholarships may be increased to correspond to the number of applicants meeting the standards set.

Dozens of pictures of Adams county's oldest churches and homesteads many of them erected more than a century and a half ago, were shown members of the Adams County Historical society at that organization's March meeting, Tuesday evening, at the court house by Mrs. D. C. Jacobs of Arendtsville.

Mrs. Jacobs explained that the photos were part of a collection being made by her late husband at the time of his death. He had intended that the photographs, some modern and some made years ago, should be included in a book he planned to compile on "Early Adams County Architecture."

As Mrs. Jacobs identified the pictures—with the exception of a few on which she sought more information—and gave historical data concerning each, she passed the mounted photos about among the nearly 50 members and guests of the society in attendance.

Old Churches Shown

In her introductory remarks Mrs. Jacobs listed the four chief groups of early settlers in this county—the Scotch-Irish, the Dutch, the Germans and the English—mentioning the section principally settled by each and indicated architectural influences were exerted by all.

The first pictures she showed were exterior and interior views of the Old Hill Presbyterian church, south of town. The first church, she said was of logs, but the building pictured was the stone structure that fell into decay and completely disappeared during the last half century. Discussion developed among the members of the society as to any evidence of a burial ground near the church and it was stated an Indian burial ground was located in the vicinity.

Other photos displayed included these: The Great Conewago Presbyterian church, Hunterstown, whose congregation is more than 200 years old and worships in a stone building erected in 1787; Friends' meeting houses at nearby points in York county and the Huntington meeting house in upper Adams county.

Old Stone Tavern

A view was shown of Rock Chapel, near York Springs, first Methodist church west of the Susquehanna, kept in repair and used annually for homecoming service. It was erected from 1773 to 1776.

Other photos showed McAllister's mill, a station of the famed "underground railway." The William M. Loft home between Idaville and York Springs, which once was a tavern, was shown. Beside the old stone house with its huge fireplace stands a smaller stone building now used as a springhouse but believed

RED CROSS WAR FUND BOOSTED BY $668 TODAY

A $100 donation by Mrs. John T. Huddle, Carlisle street, now in St. Petersburg, Florida, where she is spending the winter, was the largest of a number of contributions to the Red Cross War Relief campaign during the last 24 hours which increased the amount given so far to $2,561.51, nearly one-tenth of the $26,500 being sought in the current campaign.

With 23 more days to go before the end of the current drive heads of the campaign hoped that the amount turned in daily will increase considerably so that the drive may be finished before April 1.

While donations previously had been coming in at little over $100 a day, a total of $688.07 was turned in since noon Tuesday. If that rate is increased the drive will be concluded before the scheduled end of the campaign.

Gives Three Times

Mrs. Maude Wiernan Kennedy, York Springs, forwarded $40 sent by Thomas H. Bateman, formerly of York Springs and now of Philadelphia, to the York Springs committee for the drive. The amount is Mr. Bateman's third contribution so far in the current campaign and brings to $100 the amount he has donated.

S. L. Allison, Fairfield district chairman, turned in $46 from his section today and other committee chairmen were expected to report today on early collections in their communities.

One contribution from a New Oxford woman was accompanied by a letter of thanks to the Red Cross for obtaining an emergency furlough for her son, in the U. S. Army, who was called home by illness in the family.

The Red Cross today had completed the moving of its office from the court house to the Topper building where the county chapter has taken over the offices formerly occupied by Dr. William P. McKnight and later by the Farm Labor office.

CRASHES GAS PUMP

A car driven by Paul B. Myers, 44, Hanover, knocked over a gasoline pump at the William E. Eckenrode service station, 2½ miles north of Littlestown on the Hanover road at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, according to Pvt. Anthony Martin, of the local state police, who investigated. The officer said Myers' car skidded on the road and struck the pump.

Young Mother, Son And Blind Woman Perish

A 74-year-old blind woman, her niece and the latter's 17-months-old son were fatally burned when fire levelled their log and weatherboard home, two miles from Iron Springs on the Greenstone road west of Fairfield, about 6 o'clock this morning.

Percy Smith, 41, son of the aged woman who perished, rescued four-year-old Mary Alice McKee, whose mother and younger brother were lost in the flames. Smith received severe burns of the face and hands in two trips into the blazing building in vain attempts to rescue the others.

Three Perish In Flames

The dead are:
Mrs. Margaret Smith, widow of David Smith who died 15 years ago, in ill health for the last three years but not bedfast. Her son said today she had been nearly blind for a number of years.

Mrs. Violet McKee, 24, niece of Mrs. Smith. Her husband is serving in the armed forces.

Billy Leroy McKee, aged 17 months, younger child of Mrs. McKee.

This afternoon Fairfield firemen continued their search for the three bodies in the smoking ruins of the two-story building that had been built in Civil war days and had been Mrs. Smith's home for the last 33 years.

Son Suffers Severe Burns

Smith was rushed to the office of Dr. Ira Henderson, Fairfield, by a neighbor after his attempts at rescue were blocked by roaring flames which swept rapidly through the entire structure. From there he was taken to the Warner hospital where he received treatment for second degree burns of the face and left hand. He also suffered minor cuts when he ripped out window sashes to re-enter the blazing building. The only doorway was blocked by flames.

Little Mary Alice McKee, with singed curls her only injury, is being cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Richardson, neighbors.

Complete Loss

He said all the family's clothing—with the exception of the working clothes he was wearing—and all of their furniture together with about $215 in cash were lost when the house was consumed. Nothing was saved and there is no insurance, he said.

This afternoon the Red Cross chapter here was supplying Smith and Mary Alice with clothing and other immediate necessities.

Smith said he had risen about 5 a. m. and had started a fire in the out-kitchen stove on which he intended to prepare his breakfast and heat water for the family washing which was to be done later by Mrs. McKee.

While in another part of the house he noticed a light in the out-kitchen and when he opened the door to investigate, he was met by a blast of flame and smoke. The only exit from the house was through the outkitchen.

Saves Little Girl

Smith ran to the second floor where he met Mrs. McKee, aroused by the smoke, with Billy in one arm and Mary Alice in the other. Calling to his mother, whom he could hear stirring about in her room, Mrs. McKee to follow, Smith covered Mary Alice with his coat and made his way to the first floor.

He never saw or heard anything of the others again.

He was able to get through the single doorway with Mary Alice but when he tried to re-enter flames blocked his way.

Running to the west side of the house he kicked in a living room window and then cut his hands ripping out both sashes to make room for the rescue he hoped to complete.

Nearly Overcome

Flames blocked the stairway and he groped about the first floor in the hope that the others had gotten that far. Forced to go out for air, Smith returned and crawled about the floor on his hands and knees groping for the others in the smoke-filled first floor rooms.

Nearly overcome by the heat and smoke, he reached the open window and toppled through it backwards to the outside. Mary Alice stood alone in front of the house while Smith attempted the rescue.

Neighbors arrived by that time. Mrs. Sheldon Richardson was the first to arrive, Smith said. Mr. and Mrs. Gilliland and Ira Patterson followed. Jackie Richardson, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Richardson was sent

BRIG. GEN. WILLOUGHBY

YANKEES AIDING IN BURMA DRIVE AGAINST JAPS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(Associated Press War Analyst)
Appearance of specially trained American troops under colorful Brigadier General Frank Merrill, alongside our Chinese colleagues on the battlefield in the devil-haunted, fever-ridden jungles of Burma, gives us an even more intimate interest in the great offensive which is boiling up against Japan from the Allied base in India.

Also it is a reminder that another report on the famine and the political crisis in India is due in this column, since that country is Uncle Sam's main base for southeast Asia. My big inch pipe-line brings both good news and some that's not so pleasant.

First off, the terrible famine conditions have been vastly relieved. Having said this, we find a difference of opinion as to the exact extent of the relief. One Indian source says that despite great improvement people still are dying from hunger. A British official quarter tells me there's now food so that all may eat, although deaths continue from famine diseases and from malnutrition contracted during the foodless days.

Immeasurably Better
Anyway, it's agreed that things are immeasurably better. The great province of Bengal, just across the Bay of Bengal from Burma, has been brought back from a veritable valley of death. There an uncounted host perished, the number being estimated by many observers at hundreds of thousands. Bumper crops and imported food have halted the plague of hunger.

That's mighty important, not only from the humanitarian viewpoint but for military reasons. Big American and British headquarters are in Bengal—not a healthful atmosphere, in view of the famine diseases which swept the province.

The central government took over control of all distribution of food in the great city of Calcutta where in the death rate was appalling. People who fled from their foodless countryside to the metropolis were moved back by the military, an operation that gave rise to a curious situation. Many of these primitive natives at first were panic-stricken when the Army lorries appeared to carry them away. They thought they were going to be slaughtered.

Gandhi Confined
The political crisis between the British government and the Indian nationalists—outgrowth of the home-rule quarrel—appears to be deadlocked. The question of granting dominion status to India has been shelved for the duration of the war—and he would be a daring prophet who predicted that the shelving wasn't indefinite.

Mahatma Gandhi, and some 19 other leaders who comprised the high command of the All India Congress, remain in confinement where they have been since the anti-government disturbances and bloodshed of late 1942. I'm informed that there they will stay until they give guarantees there will be no further trouble if they are released.

LOCAL PASTOR, ARMY CHAPLAIN, IN KWAJALEIN

Capt. Spencer W. Aungst, former pastor of St. James Lutheran church, here, and now serving in the armed forces as a chaplain, was with American troops in the battle of Kwajalein Island when the Japs were ousted from this Pacific stronghold.

In a letter to Mr. and Mrs. M. U. Bream, 310 North Stratton street, Captain Aungst, who receives The Gettysburg Times' daily edition through local friends, stated that the account of the battle as appeared in The Times followed the actual battle operations and progress.

His letter follows: "It has been so long since I've written to you so I'm sure you had no idea that I am now in the infantry nor that I was in the battle of Kwajalein Island. The Times of those days arrived today and it has been interesting to read what was released and that you could practically follow to the day what we were doing. You can imagine how fortunate I feel to be a part of this unit."

"I have had a variety of experiences in having been assigned to different types of work and this pleases me most in spite of all the walking and all the other things that to some are objectionable."

"To actually be in a battle is an experience all its own. It seems like a 'nightmare' as I think of it and because of the many dangers I feel as though I am now 'living on borrowed time.' I had the greatest satisfaction from serving the men before and during the battle. There truly are 'no atheists in foxholes' and every one prayed during those days whether they were used to praying or not and they constantly give God the credit for their being here. You can imagine what the presence of a chaplain means at a time like that."

DIES TO AVERT CRASH IN TOWN

A U. S. Fighter Base, England, March 8 (AP)—Lt. Charles P. Gumm, Jr., a fighter ace who was the first Mustang pilot to shoot down an enemy plane over Europe, died a hero's death eight days ago to save civilians from his crashing plane. It was disclosed today.

Gumm lived at Spokane, Washington. The story of his heroism in refusing to parachute from a plane which would have fallen in the English town of Nayland was told by Canon W. L. Wright of St. James vicarage in Nayland, who came to this base to tell the pilot's buddies that the townspeople were deeply touched by his sacrifice.

He said many persons saw Gumm's plane falling toward the village, when an engine of his fighter failed during a test flight. There was no doubt in their minds, he said, that Gumm could have bailed out safely, but the plane would have crashed into houses.

Instead, Gumm stayed with the ship, fighting it clear of the town. It neared an open field, but was so low a wing caught a tree, flipping the plane over, throwing Gumm from the cockpit to his death.

LEND-LEASE IN REVERSE

Washington, March 8 (AP)—The volume of reverse lend-lease aid furnished to the United States by its Allies is increasing steadily, Leo T. Crowley, foreign economic administrator, told the House Foreign Affairs committee today.

"The air offensive against Germany and the invasion coasts of Europe would have been impossible on the present scale without both lend-lease and reverse lend-lease," he stated in presenting this picture.

By the first of this year, the United States was receiving reverse lend-lease aid from the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand and India at a rate of $2,000,000,000 a year, compared with a little over $1,000,000,000 a year for the 12 months ended June 30, 1943.

The British commonwealth thus leads in reverse lend-lease supplies and services, but similar aid is also being received by the United States, as the need arises, from the French National committee, Belgium, the Netherlands, Russia and China.

Crowley testified in behalf of pending legislation to extend lend-lease operations authority for the next fiscal year.

County Soldier Is Mentioned In "Stars And Stripes" Column

A columnist for the Stars and Stripes, Army newspaper, recently mentioned the name of Sgt. Charles E. Heyser, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Heyser, Gettysburg R. 5, in a story he wrote from the 8th Army Beachhead in Italy.

The writer described communities that stand where the Pontine Marshes once stretched and then spoke specially of one "podere" or section of the area.

"From the soldier's point of view the most interesting feature of the podere was highschoolish, 17-year-old Palmira. . . . At first Palmira was a bit shy and went about the house never deigning to notice the soldiers who lounged everywhere. . . . However the lapse of a few days and a carton of candy brought her around. Then she started giggling. "Sgt. Charles E. Heyser, Jr., of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, until his introduction to Palmira backward in the ways of flirtatious chit chat, has 'snowed under' the naive Palmira with his tales of the endless rows of apple trees, oceans of wheat and countless numbers of pigs, cows and chickens; all of which can be found on his farm in Gettysburg. Sgt. Heyser has even invited Palmira to visit the United States after the war to partake of the American bounty and Palmira has playfully accepted."

Draft Threatens To "Cripple" WPB

Washington, March 8 (AP)—A War Production board request for draft-deferment for 238 of its key men (who are also family heads) has been turned down and one board official said today the situation presented "the most serious threat to the WPB organization since the start of the war."

WPB originally asked for 245 deferments—all pre-Pearl Harbor fathers—which one board authority described as "absolute rock bottom." But when the War Manpower commission's review committee got through with the list, only seven of the requested deferments had been granted.

It was learned a rehearing will be asked.

Earlier in the evening it had been announced that Mrs. Jacobs is donating to the society a group of publications of the Pennsylvania German society which Mrs. E. S. Lewars described as "a very precious possession for our society."

It was announced that Mrs. C. H. Hett has given the society a reading glass and a desk dictionary for use in the basement museum and that Mrs. William B. McIlhenny has given several newspapers of the 1860's and an old deed to the former Horner property on Chambersburg street.

ices that have been set up. This meeting and the ones to follow will be held to instruct the inductees in how to obtain those services. Hundreds of men have gone into the Army or Navy and have worried over problems that could have been solved in a few minutes if they had known what service to turn to in order to obtain aid. When the men are released from the armed forces facilities have been set up to help them find employment if they need such aid. While they are in the services numerous facilities are available to help them in every need. The purpose of these meetings is to acquaint the men and their families with what services are available so that they may intelligently use them when needed."

The epidemic, confined to the wards, has caused a death rate "in excess of normal," the Delaware hospital executive committee said. Some medical sources said six babies died of the disease within a week.

The wards will be renovated and "consideration will be given to reorganization of personnel," a committee announcement stated.

HAMBERSBURG NIPS COLUMBIA QUINTET 72-39

Chambersburg high's Trojans over a step nearer the District PIAA basketball championship today evening by eliminating Columbia high, Lancaster county representative, in a convincing manner on the Gettysburg college court to the tune of a 72-39 score.

The largest crowd to witness a game in Gettysburg this season packed the gymnasium to near capacity and went away convinced the unbeaten Trojans have an excellent chance of keeping the District 3 honors in the hands of southern Pennsylvania league representatives for the fourth straight year.

Chambersburg will meet Lebanon high at the Hershey Sports Arena Friday night for the district honors. Bernie Thrush, Lebanon coach and former Biglerville high mentor, witnessed the game and when queried as to his team's chances against Chambersburg stated merely "anything can happen."

Columbia offered fairly stiff opposition to Chambersburg for two periods of the game although the Franklin countians clearly demonstrated their superiority throughout.

Trojans Take Command

After Kreiser had netted a foul for Columbia, a foul and goal by Dorsey put the South Penn champs out in front and they were never headed. Dorsey ran wild during the evening, accounting for 24 points, practically all of which came on "peep" shots when he slipped away to be unguarded beneath the hoops time and again.

At the end of the first period Columbia trailed 15-8. Midway in the second period Columbia spurred mildly but the lanky Trojans quickly recovered their poise to build up a 28-19 margin at half time.

Dorsey bagged a goal and foul to open the third period. A pair of goals by Columbia put the team in the running but from then on the Chambersburg outfit was in complete command as it rattled their opponents' defense to score almost at will with Dorsey and Leisher leading the assault. At the close of the period Chambersburg led 54-27.

Leisher Tops Scores

The final period was but a repetition of the third with the high-powered Chambersburg offense showing no letup as the Columbia outfit was played off its feet.

Top scoring honors for the evening went to Leisher with 27 points. Leading the Columbia outfit was Kreiser, giant guard, who tabbed 13 points.

FAVOR ANGOTT TO BEAT ZURITA

Hollywood, March 8 (AP)—Sammy Angott, Washington, Pa., enters the ring tonight a 1 to 4 favorite to defend successfully his N.B.A. lightweight championship against Mexico's rugged Juan Zurita in a 15-round route over which he never yet has been defeated.

Storm clouds, which caused the fight to be postponed from last Monday, gave way to clear skies today and promoter Joe Lynch said he expects 13,000 fans to pay $40,000. Angott has been guaranteed $17,500 and Zurita 17 per cent of the net gate.

Although Zurita has trained hard for this bout, betting commissioners along cauliflower row are convinced he's not likely to upset the champion, no matter how much he tries his characteristic change from orthodox to southpaw style.

Angott didn't win the title by boxing one-type fighters. And he also has the satisfaction of holding a decision over Slugger White, who likewise has given Zurita a thorough thrashing.

The champion is expected to weigh in at around 135 pounds and the challenger at 133.

The title-holder is due to report shortly for a pre-induction physical.

Delone Included In Proposed Loop

Harrisburg, March 8 (AP)—A basketball league of Catholic schools, patterned after the Central Pennsylvania conference, was proposed today by Coach Bob McCloskey of Harrisburg Catholic high for seven institutions in southeastern Pennsylvania.

McCloskey, who listed the schools likely to form such a league as Lancaster, York, Lebanon, McSherrytown, Harrisburg and two in Reading, declared "the matter must be considered by the principals of the various schools involved, and a meeting may be called shortly to permit further discussion."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 8 (AP)—Army and Navy, which virtually monopolized the indoor intercollegiate track meet last Saturday, won't be in the outdoor I.C. 4-A meet here because the date, June 10 comes after their commencements. . . . Rogers Hornsby will act as pinch hitter as well as manager for the Vera Cruz team in the Mexican baseball league next summer. And Marty McManus and Pancho Snyder have applied for the manager's job at Nuevo Laredo. . . . The Longacres (Wash.) race track will give one-third of its profits this year to the veterans of foreign wars. . . . The Reds' mechanical pitcher already has reached Indiana U. to start spring training and Pooch Harrell, I. U. coach, wants to put a uniform on it to fill out his depleted squad.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

C. M. Gibbs, Baltimore Sun: "Preparations for the Widener found A. C. Ernst's Aquest constantly regarded as the 'Sleeper.' . . . Trouble with so many 'sleepers' is that they snore right on through the big test."

SPORTPOURRI

Baseball club owners have just learned that the new admissions tax won't apply to tickets sold in advance before April 1. The drive already is getting under way for the usual opening day double sellout at Jersey City. . . . All the higher priced seats for the seven nights of the N.C.A.A. and invitation basketball tournaments at Madison Square Garden have been sold but cheaper ones still can be had. . . . Jesse Hawley, Jr., whose dad was quite a player and coach at Dartmouth, will graduate from Culver military academy this spring and follow his pop to Hanover, N. H. He's a tackle and 17 years old. . . . Seven-foot Bob Kurland, the Oklahoma Aggies basketball, recently was voted "Prince Charming of Aggeland" by the college co-eds. . . . That's not what Phog (Mezzanine Hurdler) Allen calls him.

RED HOT RUMOR

Although all hands have denied that there's any connection between William and Mary's Carl Voyles and the football coaching vacancy at Auburn, the report persists in the south. . . . Seems that Voyles was paged over the P. A. system during the southern conference basketball tournament to answer a phone call from Auburn. . . . But what didn't come out was that the whole thing was arranged by another coach just as a gag.

SERVICE DEPT.

To supply the Camp LeJeune, N. C., marines for 1944, $140,535.66 worth of athletic equipment, ranging from 4000 baseballs to 2400 cribbage boards, has just been purchased. Most of it will be taken overseas when the units move out. . . . Three former major leaguers, Hal White, Bobby Coombs and Glen Spencer, answered the first call for baseball candidates at the Sampson, N. Y., naval training station. The Pirates and Red Sox already are booked for exhibitions at Sampson. . . . Soon after Cadet Howie Pollet reached the Las Vegas, Nev., army air field he received a summons to report to the public relations office "on a matter of great importance." When he investigated hurriedly, Howie found the officer in charge wanted to know why he has pitched only one ball in the 1942 world series and why he didn't receive credit for winning the game.

May Revive Bike Racing After War

East Orange, N. J., Mar. 8 (AP)—It would take only "one good American rider" to revive bicycle racing as a spectator sport in this country after the war, says Frank L. Kramer, who pedaled his way to fame soon after the turn of the century. . . . Matching of the American champion against cycling stars from Europe, where the sport has never lost its favor, would bring about a revival here "almost overnight," Kramer said recently in recalling his triumphs on spoked wheels here and abroad.

America had that "one good rider" in the first two decades of this century when Kramer ruled as national sprint champion for 16 consecutive years, then won the title twice again in five years before hanging up his racing togs in 1922 while still champion.

Syracuse To Seek East Boxing Title

State College, Pa., March 8 (AP)—Syracuse university, holder of the 1943 Eastern Intercollegiate boxing championship, will pin its hopes of retaining its title in the 21st annual tournament here Saturday on a team of three men.

Syracuse, which gave up the sport this year and does not have enough boxers for a full team, announced yesterday it will compete with West Point, University of Virginia, Coast Guard academy and Penn State with the outside chance that victories in three events will decide the championship should the other four matches be split evenly.

The Syracuse trio will compete with Army's Dave Fink and the Coast Guard's Pete Thistle in the 120-pound class; Virginia's Bob Finley and Army's John Vaci in the 155-pound class, and Penn State's undefeated Marine Private Mike Sweeney in the 175-pound division.

Penn State, in seasonal competition, won from Virginia by one point and was deadlocked by the Coast Guard and West Point.

INTERNATIONAL PARLEYS SET ON 10 KEY SUBJECTS

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Diplomatic machinery to lay foundations for the postwar world has begun rolling, with at least 10 international conferences now on the State department calendar or in preparation.

The Anglo-American oil talks probably will be the first of the series, which excludes political conversations such as Acting Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius' planned visit to London.

Stettinius announced yesterday that Great Britain and the United States would discuss petroleum questions in Washington soon. The projected American pipeline from the Persian gulf to the Mediterranean is expected to loom large in the talks, since the plan was announced by Interior Secretary Ickes before the State department had time to inform the British.

Next on the schedule will probably be the United Nations monetary conference, under Treasury department sponsorship, for which Pinehurst, North Carolina, has been mentioned as a likely site.

Treasury representatives already have held preliminary talks with the British, Russians, Canadians and several others on the possibilities of establishing an international currency unit and stabilizing world money. "Unitas" and "bancor" have been proposed as names for the world unit.

Definite plans for the International Labor office meeting in Philadelphia on April 20 were announced today.

GREATNESS
How great can man become? No greater than his care
For all nearby of young and old who chance his days to share.
Though gaining excellence of skill,
still failure will be
If, eyes upon the stars, he fails a neighbor's needs to see;
And vain are all the selfish heights
of fortune and renown
If as a father he should fail, and child of his go down.

How great can man become? Not all a master's art
Can make a gentleman of him
who will not live the part.
Not all the wealth beneath his floor
can make a miser kind;
The eye that sees the farthest goal
to suffering may be blind;
For only they are truly great, of
champions or kings,
Who, striving to attain a dream,
take time for lesser things.

How great can man become? 'Tis
all a matter of his will.
For greatness true is not alone the gift of strength or skill,
And who wins fame and fortune
here, but let's all else be lost, Discovers he has bought success at much too high a cost.
And since there's more on earth
than wealth and fame for man
to gain,
Real greatness is of heart as well
as of the hand and brain.

Today's Talk

A TRAVELLER IN LITTLE THINGS

W. H. Hudson, the naturalist, came down to breakfast in a small English Inn at one time, and found himself seated beside a rather distinguished gentleman, with whom he took up conversation. After a brief talk, the stranger remarked to Hudson: "Oh, I see. You are a traveller in little things"—meaning
that he contacted people of all sorts,
loved the country and its small towns and inns.

Later Hudson decided that this would be a good title for one of his books of sketches, and as such it lives today—and a delightful book
it is! Unfortunately, the book has been long out of print, though I have an English copy of the first edition that has given me a world
of pleasure.

How happy most of us would be
if we did more travelling in little things! Noting the smaller and less outstanding things in life, and extracting from them their beauty,
their usefulness, and their often
unusual interest.

Many of the most joyful of my books I look upon as mere trivia—
but they contain items of simple
information, neglected knowledge and comforting suggestions. Books that can be picked up and read at random a few minutes at a time—
and then dismissed, to be gone over again—like those everyday, brief
talks with friends whom we meet
casually from time to time, happy
for each meeting.

We can all be travellers in little things—and the better for so doing.
Travelling in big things too often shuts out the light of gaiety and repose of soul. Many of the choicest revelations of life and nature are thus lost.

In youth we are mostly travellers
in little things—but with the maturity of wisdom and wide experience we begin to lose the very charm of things that once gave us such joy and attention. It would be well
if we returned to such things, if only
in memory!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Wealth Without Money."

FEWER SWINE TO BE RAISED THIS YEAR IN COUNTY

Adams county's porker population
this coming year will dwindle to a small portion of the thousands of pigs that abounded on the county's farms last year, it was forecast by observers today.

Hundreds of brood sows have been shipped to the markets along with the other swine as the farmers
found themselves faced with high feed costs and low prices for the pork.

The result, brought about mostly
by the drought last year which wiped out much of the county's and
the nation's feed supplies, may help
an equally dangerous situation in the county's dairy business.

Many Feeds Scarce

The shortages of feeds for all livestock has been particularly dangerous in the dairy industry a number of herd owners said today. One dairyman described his feed condition as being on "a hand to mouth"
basis with only small supplies on hand and additional supplies apparently unavailable. Protein feeds have been scarce throughout the winter while bran has become a scarce item the last several weeks.
Large quantities of hay have been purchased by the cattle feeders from almost any source available, in order
to meet the needs of the animals.

With the selling of other cattle
the feed situation may ease up enough to allow the dairymen to continue the sale of milk on present schedules, it was stated. However the dairymen studied today experiments by Dr. C. F. Noll, head of agronomy, and Dr. S. I. Bechdel,
State college leader in dairy research, designed to relieve the shortage of dairy feeds this summer
by applying lime and superphosphate to pastures this spring.

The feed scarcity and resulting shortage of milk seems sure to continue until fall, it was stated. Any increased growth of grass will aid in improving this situation. It may either be grazed or stored as silage
for use when needed.

will carry a review of this work.

In these and many other fertilizer
experiments on residual soils, marked increases in pasture yields have resulted from liming to correct
acidity and applications of superphosphate. In these particular tests 64 pounds of superphosphate per acre nearly doubled the returns in terms of total digestible nutrients or
in cash from milk produced.

The use of both lime and super-
phosphate is stressed by the authors,
since on many soils benefits from
the application of either one alone
are sure to be limited.

PROGRESS WITH CLOVER CULTURE

Hope that clover seed can be produced economically on farms of Pennsylvania has been revived by results of research on this problem
done last summer by the Pennsylvania State college agricultural experiment stations.

Studies conducted by H. W. Higbee
and J. K. Thornton, agronomists, and F. J. Anderson, apiculturist, indicate that special strains of clover
well worked by honey bees at blossom time set seed plentifully.
Seed of various clovers, which are essential in wartime food production, have been scarce and high priced in recent years.

Formerly most agriculturists believed that dampness prevented clover seed from setting in this region
and that honeybees were unable to reach the nectar in the blooms. Both of these old ideas appear to be at least partly in error.

Interesting Tests

Medium red clover of adapted Pennsylvania strains, popular
sources of seed in certain localities,
produced 45 to 55 seeds per head in samples of 50 to 100 or more heads
grown in bee cages. In open fields
well worked by bees, similar samples
averaged 25 to 35 seeds per head.
An average of one seed or less per head was obtained from clover
grown in field cages which protect-

Farm Calendar

Use Feed Efficiently—The feed
available for poultry flocks this year must be used efficiently to get the best results, point out the extension poultry specialists of the Pennsylvania State college. Waste of feed for any cause must be avoid-
ed. Careful feeding and proper equipment will make feed go farthest for laying and growing stock.

Select Good Varieties—Home gardeners have found that selection of good varieties of vegetables is important. No amount of care will produce a satisfactory crop if the varieties chosen are not suited to the conditions or purposes of the gardener.

Have Pen for Calf—A pen for each
calf is suggested by dairy extension specialists of the Pennsylvania State college for successful calf rearing.
A slatted bottom floor allows liquids
to run away and helps to keep the calf dry and warm. Provide equipment for feeding and drinking

ed the blooms from the activities of bees.

Observations and nectar measurements show that bees prefer to work
on certain clover strains and that some clovers produce more nectar
than others. Bees will work on aliske
as well as clover but not both at the same time, and they seem to be more successful pollenizers for medium red clover as compared to mammoth clover.

SPRAY RASPBERRIES
Liquid lime sulphur is recommended by plant pathologists of the Pennsylvania State college as a spray for control of anthracnose, fungous disease of raspberries. Early and thorough spraying is urged for production of the best crop of high-quality raspberries.

ONIONS TO GROW

It is expected that home gardeners will not have much choice
in selection of onion varieties this year but Ebenezer sets or Bottle
variety sets are good, while plants
of Utah Valencia either purchased or grown indoors at home give satisfaction.

according to the needs of the calf.

Avoid Berry Losses—Only disease-
free bramble berry plants should be set out, say plant pathologists of the Pennsylvania State college.
Place the plants at least 500 feet away from other patches of brambles, wild or cultivated.

BEE COLONIES COME THROUGH WINTER WELL

Adams county's bees, despite entering the winter season with a shortage of honey, for the most part seem ready to enter the critical brooding season late this month and in April in fair shape, according to leading bee keepers in the upper county section.

The honey shortage caused by the excessive drought which cut short the county's flower population last year, will cause an increase in the amount of sugar-syrup introduced into the combs this spring, but for the most part it appears that most broods will survive for the coming season. Beekeepers believe that the 10 pounds of sugar allowed by the OPA for each colony will be enough for most of the hives.

Beeswax Goes To War

Some county beekeepers were able to sell some beeswax to manufacturers of war munitions and airplanes who urgently need the product, it was learned, although the great majority of the beeswax will be kept as foundation in hives where needed.

Because of the great need for beeswax in the war time manufacturing plants, Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst has urged the beekeepers to check all hives carefully and melt and sell all old honey combs, particularly those from colonies which have died out during the winter.

Wax is now more essential than honey, the secretary declared, though both are materials that help in the war effort. He suggested that all beekeepers make plans now to expand their colonies for the coming season, and to give special attention to the health and feeding of the bees they now have.

Short Supply Here

The clearing out of bee colonies struck by death or disease at this time of year is considered good practice in agriculture. If the beekeeper is unable to render his old comb into wax, it may be sent to some manufacturer of bee supplies for refining and sale. Last year Pennsylvania bees produced 138,000 pounds of beeswax, nearly double the 1942 output of 74,000 pounds. It sold for an average of nearly 42 cents a pound.

In Adams county, however, the amount of honey and wax produced fell far short of the usual crop due to the drought.

Pennsylvania beekeepers can help produce a record crop of honey and wax this season through extra care and attention in controlling disease, Secretary Horst said. Before the active bee season starts all usable equipment should be repaired and painted, and old combs replaced with full sheets of foundation. A supply of frames and supers should be in readiness for the honey flow. Each beekeeper should have a well-planned system of inspection for disease and try to eliminate all traces before supers are added.

Guard Against Disease

All equipment and bees infected with American foulbrood should be destroyed. He urged that beekeepers cooperate with state apiculturists in cleaning up all illegal hives and diseased bees.

Adams county beekeepers joined with Secretary Horst in asking the cooperation of amateurs who may have produced illegal hives by luring a swarm of bees into hives which are not equipped with frames to allow inspection. Such hives are particularly susceptible to disease and where found the bees must be placed in legal hives. The great danger lies in increasing foul brood in the county. Adams county is one of few counties in the state relatively free of foul brood.

T-B INFECTION IN HERDS DROPS

War conditions have not seriously interfered with the extensive program of control of tuberculosis in dairy cattle in Pennsylvania, and a continuing supply of wholesome milk from tested cows is issued citizens of the state, Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst declared today.

Although more than 40 Pennsylvania practicing veterinarians have been called into the armed forces in the past two years, and the state Bureau of Animal Industry is operating with reduced personnel, the percentage of tuberculosis infection in milk cows during 1943 showed a continuation of the steady decline that has accomplished the bovine tuberculosis eradication program in recent years in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry.

The percentage of infection among cattle has been decreasing until it now ranges from less than one-tenth of one per cent to one-half of one per cent for the state as a whole.

During 1943 the cattle in nine counties were tuberculin tested and each county requalified as a modified accredited area for three to six years. On account of the reduction of infection as disclosed by the tests, it has been possible to re-accredit 42 counties as modified accredited tuberculosis-free areas for a period of six years. The triennial retest in five counties did not disclose a single reactor.

Fruit Packages Will Be Scarce

Adams county's fruit industry and other farmers looked forward to some "funny packaging" as one grower expressed it, with the growers expecting a greater scarcity of wooden containers this year than last.

The War Food Administration has already warned that the new containers will be very scarce during the coming year and has asked all growers of fruits and vegetables to make the greatest possible use of used containers of all types including wood crates and boxes and open mesh bags.

Retailers and purchasers who formerly discriminated against used containers have been asked by the WFA to consider the product inside the container rather than the box in order to help the situation. The WFA estimates that container materials will be short from 10 to 20 per cent of the demand if crops are normal.

FARMS LEAD IN TREE PLANTING

The farmers in Pennsylvania are among the largest private forest tree planters of the Commonwealth.

James A. Kell, secretary of Forests and Waters, stated that this spring more than three million trees will be planted by farmers within the state. He directed attention to the fact that the farm woodlands of Pennsylvania comprise nearly four million acres and are an integral asset to the advancement of agriculture.

The average plot of woodland in farms is 19.2 acres. Records show that decline in agriculture throughout northern and central Pennsylvania went hand in hand with the decline of the lumber industry. Farmers need not wait for young planted forests to mature before they engage in improved methods of harvesting wood crops.

Farm Forestry

Fuelwood is in continued demand on the farm and farmers find it profitable to remove dead and defective trees to make way continually for improved conditions. While taking out firewood from his woodlot he can also cut posts, poles and ties.

A great majority of the farm woodlands of the state are located advantageously for marketing forest products and in this respect have advantage over forests in the more remote sections of the state. Farm forestry is encouraged in Pennsylvania and even though market conditions are not always permanent for yearly cut the timber can stand without deterioration.

Bang Disease Test Asked By Dairymen

Initial applications for individual herd tests for Bang disease were received during February from the owners of 83 herds containing more than a thousand cattle, the state Bureau of Animal Industry reports.

By the end of the month there was an aggregate total of 780 herds waiting tests on the individual plan, one of the four programs through which the bureau is waging its fight against a disease that annually reduces Pennsylvania milk production by 3 per cent, according to recent estimates.

During February the bureau received Bang test reports on 3,249 herds containing more than 49,700 cattle. Tests revealed that infection had entered 532 of these herds, and more than 1,300 cattle actually had the disease. The per cent of herds infected was 16.3, and 2.7 of all cattle tested proved to be reactors.

The state paid $32,833 in indemnities during February to farmers whose cattle had to be killed in the disease eradication program. Federal indemnities for the month amounted to $38,354.

HAZARDS IN USE OF TRACTOR CAN BE OVERCOME

If the conditions which cause tractors to upset are recognized by farmers, few accidents of this kind need occur, A. W. Clyde, agricultural engineer at the Pennsylvania State college, reports.

In actual practice the dangerous conditions may occur in strange degrees and combinations but in general they include:

1. Drive wheels frozen to the ground. When the motor is started and the clutch engaged, the front end of the tractor may rear up and fall over backwards.

2. Drive wheels in a ditch. The result may be the same as in the previous instance.

Sharp Turns Dangerous

3. Drive wheels completely blocked by stones or a post. This condition also may cause the tractor to rear.

4. A very high hitch, such as would be supplied by a chain attached to the axle or seat post. The common belief that the front wheels will be held down by a peculiar construction of the drawbar is largely mistaken.

5. Turning too sharply at too high a speed, particularly on slopes. Five miles per hour on sharp turns is as fast as is safe with some machines.

over the program for the coming year in order to determine what experiments should be given priorities in the tests conducted yearly by the scientists at the laboratory. The group dined at noon today at Ditzler's restaurant in Biglerville.

LIMIT SIZE OF POULTRY FLOCK

Adams countians planning a backyard chicken flock were advised today by P. H. Margolf, assistant professor of poultry husbandry at the Pennsylvania State college, to raise only the amount of poultry necessary to supply their own family needs.

"The nation is facing a serious feed shortage," he explained, "and we must guard against waste of remaining feed supplies through overproduction of poultry. While backyard flocks are an excellent means of overcoming meat shortages, it is important that housewives do not overestimate their needs."

Professor Margolf said a brood of 25 chicks would adequately care for the meat and egg demands of a family of four. He advises the layman to purchase baby chicks rather than eggs for hatching and recommends any of three breeds—New Hampshire, Rhode Island Reds or Barred Plymouth Rocks—as productive of good meat and eggs.

He stressed the importance of adequate pen space to insure healthy chickens and offered this as additional reason for limiting the size of the flock. Four square feet of pen space should be allotted each chicken after it is six months old, he said.

Army ordnance is now producing more than 18,000,000 artillery shells a month, as compared with 2,700,000 during World War I.

MILLIONS WILL REQUIRE WORK WHEN WAR ENDS

Washington, March 8 (AP)—The International Labor office (ILO) estimated today that jobs would have to be found for more than 130,000,000 persons throughout the world when the war ends and peacetime economies are restored.

The estimate was made in a report setting forth a proposal for international action to supplement national measures designed to assure adequate postwar employment.

The proposal is to be presented to an International Labor conference meeting in Philadelphia April 20. Specific recommendations agreed upon there will be referred to the governments of participant countries for legislative or other necessary action.

One of the first financial charges to be made against Germany as a result of her disruption of European economic life probably will be included in these recommendations.

Edward J. Phelan, acting director of the ILO, said that millions of non-German Europeans had been promised social insurance protection as an inducement to go to work for Germany during the war and that other millions had been forced to work without such promises.

Nazis Must Keep Promises

The proposal is to make Germany keep these promises, foot the bill and provide similar old age and other financial protection for the workers entitled to them but not specifically promised such benefits.

The United States will be represented at the conference by four delegates—two government officials, one employer and one labor union representative. President Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that he was having difficulty selecting a labor delegate since both the AFL and the CIO must be considered.

Yesterday there were indications from AFL officials that the organization might elect to forego participation in the ILO if it became necessary to share representation with the CIO. The AFL, the officials hinted, might be unwilling to give up its traditional role of exclusive spokesman.

TRY PREACHER FOR ASSAULT

Uniontown, Pa., March 8 (AP)—After testifying he had "no recollections" of beating his wife with what the prosecution described as a "miniature baseball bat," the Rev. George Elmer Schott, 54-year-old clergyman, was to return to the stand today for cross-examination at his trial on assault charges.

He is being tried before a jury of seven men and five women on charges of assault and of assault with intent to kill growing out of alleged beating of Garnett Jane Schott, 44, in the church parsonage at nearby Vanderbilt last January 4.

Medical testimony disclosed Mrs. Schott suffered contusions, lacerations and a fractured skull and was hospitalized for several weeks after the alleged attack.

Under direct examination by Defense Attorney Wade K. Newell, the minister testified:

"I have no recollections of it. I wouldn't have done such a thing. I never threatened her with physical violence of any kind."

He testified he was "seized with a peculiar mental distress" the day

Dewey Makes Attack On Federal Ballot

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's attack on the federal war ballot as a "blank piece of paper" with no provision for voting on state officials convinced some members of both parties here today that the New York executive would be receptive to a republican presidential nomination.

Bristling at Dewey's assertion that there would be opportunity for "organized fraud" with a write-in ballot such as he originally proposed, Senator Lucas (D-III) told reporters:

"Apparently the coy candidate now is a real candidate. Governor Dewey's message to the New York legislature demonstrates how little he knows about what has transpired in congress concerning the uniform ballot for service men. If he speaks on other national issues, I hope he informs himself better about the facts."

"I am supposed to have made this alleged attack." He said the "abuse she subjected me to constantly, daily, finally made me neurotic."

Profits of railroads in 1942 were even higher than in pre-depression 1929.

VET LOSES IN DENVER VOTING

Washington, March 8 (AP)—A Republican business man's victory over a war hero opponent in a special Colorado Congressional election apparently demonstrated today that the Democrats must find something more than a candidate with a military background to stem an otherwise adverse voting tide.

Dean M. Gillespie, the Republican business man, defeated the Democratic nominee, Maj. Carl E. Wuertele, wounded and decorated Pacific flier, in a race to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Rep. Lawrence Lewis, Democrat in the first Colorado district. Wuertele conceded on the basis of unofficial returns giving his opponent a majority of nearly 3,000 votes.

Gillespie's victory in a normally Democratic district raised Republican representation in the House to 210 members, only six short of the Democrats' 216, and demonstrated to most politicians that the 1942 Republican swing still is continuing, so far as congressional contests are concerned.

More than that, however, it showed that the vote appeal of a war veteran without previous politi-

CONSIDERATION

posts, Gettysburg, Littlestown and Biglerville were among the 10 posts
represented at the session.

District Commander House
announced that up to March 1 membership in the 17 posts had risen to 2,362, an increase of over eight over last year.

As of March 1 the Legion posts needed 220 members to meet their quota for the year. The 10 posts present reported that 185 members had been secured and that it was possible the district was already over the top if similar gains were made in the seven posts not represented.

State Department Adjutant Linski
said that the "American Legion
wants a job for every veteran, adequate hospitalization and proper compensation for all wounded veterans and proper rehabilitation and welfare plans."

Employment Units

District Commander House reported that employment committees
have been set up in Adams and Franklin counties and that a similar committee will be set up in York county within the next 10 days.

He also announced that the position of district service officer made vacant by the resignation of Ralph H. Lookingbill will be filled at the next district meeting to be held at Littlestown April 27.

Jerry Allen, of the Chambersburg
post, superintendent of the Scotland Orphan's school, reported on work being done at that school.

900 RANGERS
PIERCE BOCHE
LINES BUT ARE ANNIHILATED

0 offoe0ci

900 RANGERS—Two battalions of American Rangers, 900 strong, infiltrated four miles through enemy lines in the early days of the Anzio beachhead
operations, nearly reached Cisterna
and there fought to the bitter end
when surrounded by superior German forces, it was disclosed today.

The stirring night and day action occurred Jan. 30. Only a few stragglers managed to filter back into Allied lines where they told their story and vowed, "there will be a sequel to it."

As the spearhead of a planned
general attack on Cisterna, then five miles distant, the Rangers slipped away at 2 a. m. on their mission
to "get through the enemy lines as quietly as possible; get into town;
entrench yourselves and start raining all the hell possible."

Although it still is not clear whether the Germans laid a clever trap or benefitted from a fluke,
during the night the first battalion
of Rangers passed a heavy contingent of German reinforcements
heading toward positions before the Allied lines. The opposing forces bypassed each other except for a few German guards the Rangers
killed—quietly, in Ranger fashion.

It is apparent that only the advance party got into the outskirts of Cisterna. With a little more time
the Rangers could have entrenched themselves solidly. But the second, reinforcing Ranger battalion ran into the Nazis whom the first battalion had passed in the night. The first party was unsupported.

The fighting became general as the Germans moved in from all sides
for the kill.

The Rangers carried out part of their mission—"to raise all the hell possible."

Seize Two Tanks
One platoon reached a building
where two German tanks were parked. They machine-gunned the sleeping crews, appropriated the tanks to spearhead their dash into Cisterna.

But back in Allied lines, sharp-eyed Allied gunners, seeing only that two German tanks were roaming around in the area where the Rangers were supposed to be,
promptly knocked them out.

Casualties mounted. Ammunition ran out. When only a handful of his men remained, the captain of one platoon, wounded but still directing the fight ordered his men to escape as well as they could. Only one man of that platoon got back.
He joined up with the first infantry
outfit he met and asked to fight
with it.

The Navajo Indian Reservation
has 16 million acres and is larger than the state of West Virginia.

A total of 1,405,000 air express shipments was made within the United States last year.

to another neighbor's a half mile away to telephone for the Fairfield fire company.

Then Mr. Gillilan put Smith in the Gillilan car to go to Fairfield.
En route there they met the firemen
on their way to the house that then was beyond saving.

Smith is employed at the grit mill
at Greenstone. Formerly he worked for the York Ice Machinery company in York and the Landis Tool
company in Waynesboro.

Mrs. Smith was Margaret Reese
before her marriage. She was born and reared in the Iron Springs section. Several years ago she resided in Hagerstown and Waynesboro,
later returning to Adams county.

No complete list of survivors was available today. Smith said that the Rev. Eliza Myers, West Middle
street, is a niece of Mrs. Smith. Mrs.
John Reese, Virginia Mills, is a sister-in-law of the deceased woman.
Mrs. McKee is a daughter of the late John Reese and Mrs. Reese of Virginia Mills.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county
coroner, was called to the scene of the fire early this morning and supervised the early stages of searching for the bodies. The intense heat from the still-glowing logs delayed
the search.

Doctor Crist said he plans no inquest in the deaths.

No arrangements for funerals for
the victims have been made pending recovery of the bodies. One report said that searchers believed they could see one charred form in the rubble but had not been able to reach it.

Seek Accord On
Extension of OPA

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Reports circulated at the capitol today that the White House, in a new gesture of conciliation toward Congress, would try to bring leaders of both parties together on continuing the present powers of the Office of Price Administration beyond their
June 30 expiration date.

These reports arose as Senator
Wagner (D-N.Y.), a senate administration leader, announced Price Administrator Chester Bowles would meet informally Friday with members of the senate banking committee to discuss the OPA extension plans.

Legislation to continue price control hasn't been introduced as yet
but administration leaders were described as eager to effect a bi-partisan agreement on principles in advance if possible to forestall any prolonged fight in congress.

DEAD BOY'S DOG DIES
Conehohocken, Pa., March 8 (AP)—
Six-year-old Lee Campbell's dog refused food after his master was burned Feb. 24 when his cowboy suit was ignited by a bon-fire. Lee died Sunday. The dog, "Woodie," died two hours later.

FIGHT OLD FIRE
Washington, March 8 (AP)—A $45,000 allocation to fight a 14-year old creeping mine fire near Bruneton, Pa., was recommended by the house appropriations committee. The fire is approaching an explosives testing station.

SNIPER CAN'T
BALK YANKEE

With the Fifth Army Beachhead
Forces in Italy, March 7 (Delayed)
(AP)—Lt. L. F. Edwards, of Rei-gate, Surry, is a fast man when it comes to thinking about food.

This morning before dawn he crawled to the crest of a hill dragging a telephone with him and when daylight came he relayed information back to his artillery unit
that resulted in seven direct hits on a big house which the Germans
held and which was causing serious trouble to the forces on the beachhead.

After the house was demolished
Edwards tried to get back to his original position, but was pinned down by a German sniper and forced to lie there until noon with no chance of getting back in time for lunch.

Edwards solved the difficulty by picking up the telephone and ordering lunch. The lunch, with an additional 50 feet of wire, was attached to the telephone line and Edwards hauled in his own lunch
hand over hand, maintaining communication with his unit at the same time.

Later in the afternoon it began to rain, and when Edwards saw the sniper remove the telescopic sights
from his rifle and begin to wipe them off he made a break for it and
won. Tonight he enjoyed his dinner in the comparative security of his dugout.

Seek Key Witness
In Murder Trial

Norristown, Pa., March 8 (AP)—
A key witness—the defendant's
father—was hunted by both prosecution and defense attorneys today
as 41-year-old Helen Wucherer was called back into court for the third day of her trial on a charge of murder in the shooting of her
"model husband," August Wucherer.
The parent, Edward Hatzfeld, who lived with the couple at the time of the shooting last Oct. 31, left his Philadelphia hotel Feb. 5 or 6 and has not been seen or heard from since. Police Chief Andrew J. White of Springfield township testified yesterday.

The state charges that Mrs.
Wucherer killed her husband, a Philadelphia school teacher, because he had been friendly with another Columbus Smith, testified yesterday
woman.

A defense witness, Christopher that he and Mrs. Wucherer dropped to their knees and prayed after he told her the revolver used in the killing.

Widow Plunges To Death In New York

Philadelphia, March 8 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Kovacs, 45, widow of Eugen Kovacs, former New York Times correspondent in Bucharest, Hungary, plunged to her death Monday from a seventh-floor window of a downtown department store.

Deputy Coroner Luke Parrell quoted her brother, Joseph Brauner, a tailor, as saying she had been nervous since her husband died in New York last October and also had worried over State department examinations she was to take soon for permanent residence and citizenship.

Flashes of Life

Lancaster, Pa. (AP)—A resident reported her automobile stolen from in front of her home.

Police found it right where she had parked it—but buried under a snow drift after a heavy snow.

STORK WINS ANOTHER

St. Albans, Vt. (AP)—The stork flew in with unscheduled twins yesterday for Mr. and Mrs. Russell McGovern and the draft board temporarily excused the surprised father from his pre-induction physical examination.

LEARN THE EASY WAY

Chicago (AP)—Einstein's theory of relativity is going on the air.

The University of Chicago, which holds that today almost everyone can understand the proposition, plans to explain it through drama and narrative over the Mutual Broadcasting system at 7:30 p. m. Central Wintime 12345 12345 1234 (CWT) Thursday. Walter Yust, editor of the Encyclopedia Britannica, will be on hand to lift listeners over any troublesome spots.

AIR SWEEP OF COURSE

Chicago (AP)—Something new in hair styles—the paratrooper hair-do—was fashioned before the midwest beauty trade show by an Army private.

He was Gilbert R. Bass, former hair stylist now with a troop carrier squadron at Warrensburg, Mo. He said he thought up the hair-do while musing in his bunk.

Small Steel Firms Seek Aid From WPB

Washington, March 8 (AP)—The war production board considered today a request from Philip Murray, CIO united steelworkers president that it assist 20 smaller steel companies—including three in Pennsylvania—which he said are "confronted with disaster" because of the scrap iron shortage.

Murray told the board yesterday the companies were unable to find low-cost scrap and thus were compelled to buy larger than normal amounts of higher-priced pig iron. Few now can sell at OPA ceiling prices and realize a profit, he said.

Murray proposed that the government sell pig iron and battle-field scrap to the concerns at less than ceiling prices. Unless they kept operating, he said, a dozen thriving communities will become "ghost towns."

Companies he named included Phoenix Iron, Phoenixville, Pa.; Lukens Steel, Coatesville, Pa., and Central Iron and Steel, Harrisburg, Pa.

EATS PILLS FOR CANDY

Philadelphia, March 8 (AP)—Albert Cahill, Jr., 5, found a box of orange-colored pills, mistook them for candy, and ate 30. Several hours later, he died. The coroner's office said the tablets, prescribed for the boy's aged grandfather, contained minute quantities of strychnine.

SOLDIER BONUS BATTLE ENTERS HOUSE, SENATE

Washington, March 8 (AP) — A backstage battle between veterans' organizations over this war's "soldier bonus" moved into the open today as adjusted compensation legislation, sponsored jointly by five service groups, was offered in both houses of congress.

Acting on behalf of the veterans of foreign wars, the Army and Navy union, Disabled American Veterans, the Military Order of the Purple Heart and the Regular Veterans association, Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) sponsor of the senate bill said he would ask for hearings by the military committee.

Parallel Bills

Parallel bills were introduced Monday by nine house members.

The legislation sponsored by the service groups and proposing a maximum bonus of $3,500 each for men and women of the armed forces for home service and $4,500 for overseas service, is much more liberal in its benefits than the so-called "G-I" bill, sponsored chiefly by the American Legion, now pending before a senate finance subcommittee.

Warren H. Atherton, of the American Legion has announced that the organization will conduct a nationwide drive on Wednesday, March 15, to obtain signatures endorsing the bill.

Bill's Provisions

The five-service group measure would provide for adjusted service pay of $3 daily for home service in the armed forces and $4 daily for overseas service, with an extra credit of $500 for those wounded.

All compensation above $300 would be in the form of non-negotiable, tax-free government bonds. Bondholders could withdraw not more than one-fifth the face value of their bonds during the first five years after their issuance.

This compares with a series of benefits proposed in the "G-I" bill, including mustering out pay totaling $500 for 18 months overseas service, educational training for veterans, farm and home purchase loans, reemployment aid and unemployment insurance for the post-discharge period.

News Briefs

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the House Banking committee disclosed Monday that a resolution probably will be offered "in a few days" to continue OPA as now constituted, an action almost certain to explode into a Congressional tempest.

Philadelphia, March 8 (AP)—A. Salus and Sons, Inc., wholesale meat supply house, was fined $5,000 Monday after pleading guilty to price ceiling violations which the OPA said amounted to thousands of dollars.

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Jonathan Daniels, administrative assistant to President Roosevelt, confirmed Tuesday, before a Senate investigating committee that he had tried to induce Harry E. Slattery to resign as head of the Rural Electrification Administration and said he did so after an investigation he made at the request of President Roosevelt.

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Congress' newest economy drive was thrown into high gear Tuesday as the House Appropriations Committee recommended a $91,235,064 slash in the funds requested for various federal agencies in the first deficiency supply bill of 1944.

Trenton, N. J. March 8 (AP)—A bill which would permit men of the armed forces serving outside of the United States to marry their New Jersey sweethearts by proxy was approved Monday by the state Senate.

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox said Tuesday that the American fleet—largest in world history—now consists of more than 900 warships. "This doesn't include any small stuff," the Navy chief added at a news conference. Knox also disclosed that the carrier group of the Essex type will include more than the 11 ships originally scheduled for that class. He gave no details.

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Destruction of Japanese shipping by American submarines is increasing to such an extent that it may determine results of the war in the Pacific, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, declared Tuesday. "Our submarines are taking such a heavy toll of their shipping that lack of shipping may soon be the controlling factor in what Japan is able to do," the 59-year-old, white-haired Admiral told a news conference.

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Mrs. Lorraine B. Chandler, 31, a bride of eight months, died at a hospital Tuesday, after being hurled through a second-story window by an explosion at the Bureau of Standards. Four other persons were injured. The bureau director, Dr. Lyman J. Briggs, said the group was working on "an urgent war project to make our aviation gasoline better." Details of the project were not disclosed, but Dr. Briggs stated that a mixture being used in the work set off the blast.

Philadelphia, March 8 (AP)—Twenty-eight nationally known clergymen who protested "obliteration bombings" of German cities were rebuked by the Rev. Dr. Daniel A. Poling, pastor of Baptist Temple who toured world battlefronts last year. "I know the horrors of which these 28 have written," he said. "But every minute of delay is death for yet another man, woman and child. What would these 28 do about it?"

Union, N. J., March 8 (AP)—Union County Selective Service Board Two, which has refused to induct pre-Pearl Harbor fathers while it is required to defer childless men, tried a new twist today in an effort to meet its draft quotas. It hung in the window Tuesday a two-foot sign which read: "Help wanted, male. Clothing, maintenance and $50 monthly. Job not permanent. Apply within."

Philadelphia, March 8 (AP)—John P. Brennan, 40-year-old ex-convict who survived 20 stab wounds less than two years ago, was shot to death early Tuesday as he sat in his automobile in front of the Rittenhouse street apartment house in which he lived.

ALLIES OPEN NEW ASSAULTS AGAINST JAPS

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ
Associated Press War Editor

Two new offensive successes against the Japanese in the southwest Pacific—one on Los Negros island in the Admiralty group and another on the coast of New Guinea—were reported Tuesday by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Reinforced troops of the dismounted First Cavalry division drove through enemy artillery fire to extend their Los Negros holdings across an isthmus to the northern peninsula of the small island and tighten their grip on the strategic Momote airbase, seized shortly after the surprise invasion February 29.

Relatively small units of the 32nd Army division leap-frogged up the New Guinea coast from their positions near Saldor to land 30 miles nearer Madang to the north, bypassing difficult jungle terrain and enemy forces delaying the coastal drive.

Pound Rabaul Again

Rabaul, New Britain, where Japan has lost 342 planes since the all-out Allied air campaign against the key enemy base began last December 17, shattered under the weight of a 181-ton blasting by South Pacific planes Saturday. Anti-aircraft fire was intense at the beginning but faded and there was no aircraft interception.

Other Allied planes poured 105 tons of explosives into hopelessly abandoned Japanese on Choiseul island in the Solomons and struck heavily at enemy positions on Bougainville island to the north.

Tokyo radio admitted "the plight of its Solomon islands' forces."

"Huge enemy task forces ply in between our supply bases and the front lines," the Domei broadcast said. "The enemy has made passage of larger transports infinitely difficult so the heavy responsibility of safe transportation of food and supplies has fallen upon the crews of wooden ships * * * which conceal themselves by day in the shadows of the islands and carry out their duties by night."

Air war in the Central Pacific found Army and Navy bombers staging a 35-ton bombing strike on three undesignated Japanese bases in the Marshall Islands Saturday. All planes returned.

ard Sanders, Fort Storey, Virginia, over the week-end.

Curvin Altland, of the Seabees, is home on furlough with his parents. He had been in Alaska for over a year.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berkhimer and family have moved from E. E. Jacobs' home to the home of Mrs. Berkhimer's father, Ralph Kopman. Miss Grace Butt and several friends from York attended the wedding of a girl friend at Fort Meade, Maryland, Friday night.
